E. Project Narrative

- 1. Problem Identification: Briefly describe a specific problem to be addressed with subgrant funds in terms of Problem Description, Problem Significance and Needs Assessment, as described in the application instructions. Continue narrative on a second page if necessary. Do not exceed two pages. Use a readable size font, per instructions.

Positive identification of arrested youth is a core service of juvenile assessment centers. These one-stop centers co-locate services by law enforcement, state agencies, the judicial system, private service providers and local governments in an effort to most efficiently and effectively protect the public and provide a quick response to the negative behavior of arrested youth. The initial impetus for the establishment of a one-stop entity for arrested youth was to help reduce the amount of time required by the law enforcement officer who had made an arrest and had possession of a youth in his or her patrol car. An extraordinary amount of time was caused particularly when a youth was arrested outside regular business hours. One cause for this situation was when the arrested youth did not meet secure detention criteria. The officer would find himself or herself driving around with a youth in the backseat of the patrol car trying to find parents in order to return the youth to the family. This simple idea then grew to a more profound idea of providing not only booking and identification but also initial screening for mental health and substance abuse issues and the beginning of a service referral to address the underlying causes of the delinquent behavior.

The network of Juvenile Justice Assessment Centers across the state is a result of a pioneering effort to centralize into one facility the booking, screening and assessment process for arrested juveniles. By having LiveScan devices housed in the JACs, efficiencies are achieved for the law enforcement officer on patrol, improved decision making about the appropriate response in terms of service and sanctions and improved outcomes for the public safety of the community can be achieved. These six Livescan devices will be used to electronically transfer juvenile fingerprint card data to the FDLE. The devices will be housed at these Juvenile Assessment Centers jointly operated by the Florida Department of Juvenile Justice (FDJJ), local law enforcement agencies and other community partners in these centers. This data will be incorporated in the FDLE Computerized Criminal History system as required by statute.

Livescan devices were previously purchased and installed at the centers; however, the models are now obsolete and service and parts are no longer available to maintain the older equipment. The old equipment is also not compatible with electronic storage processes.

- 2. Project Description: Briefly describe proposed project activities. Refer to Appendix II, Part 1, Pages 1-3 for a description of eligible project areas). You should include project goals, administration, enhancement/expansion, staff, service providers, clients or other participants, equipment, location, and expected project results, as described in the application instructions

This section should address the basic points of who, what, when, where, and how.

Continue on additional pages if necessary; do not exceed three pages.

In order to assist both FDLE employees and FDJJ, FDLE is purchasing Livescan devices for six Juvenile Assessment Centers. These JACs have made commitments to provide personnel to operate the equipment. The devices will be placed in Daytona Beach, Ft. Pierce, Gainesville, Ocala, St. Petersburg, and Tallahassee, and will allow for the electronic submission of fingerprints from these six locations.

By statute each Juvenile Assessment Center has a local board of directors composed of local law enforcement, mental health agencies, school officials, child welfare officials and other local stakeholders. The statute also gives the local board authority to design their Juvenile Assessment Center to best meet local needs. So there are variations in the model, but typically the JAC will meet the following specifications:

1. 24 hour/7 day a week access

On site or electronic remote screening access.

Established written protocol itemizing procedures during specific hours of the day and days of the week.

2. Central point of delivery and contact for law enforcement

Accepts custody of arrested youth from law enforcement officer.

24-hour availability of staff that determine detention eligibility for law enforcement officer.

3. Booking

Gender specific pat-down/Search all youth

Review of law enforcement officer report for appropriateness.

Secure care, custody and control of offenders delivered.

Property inventory

Photo ID

Fingerprinting

Coordination and compliance with FDLE.

4. Protocols for positive identification

Written policy and procedure for Positive identification

Face sheet with demographic Information

All youth files contain affidavit signed by law enforcement officer.

All completed face sheets will be presented in file as indicated by the policy and procedure documents.

5. Central point for the coordination of service delivery

Co-located services

Collaborative operation oversight

Collaborative funding

Navigation of youth through multiple systems.

6. Screening for mental health, substance abuse & other issues

FDJJ uses a standardized validated screening tool, Positive Achievement Change Tool (PACT), that is completed on all youth

The PACT data is entered into the Juvenile Justice Information System (JJIS)

The JAC has Policy and Procedure that requires training and the staff acquisition of proficiency on completing the PACT process

Documentation of the training on the PACT is contained in employee records.

7. Assessment

As a result of a PACT screening the need for follow up more comprehensive assessment might be indicated.

There is written policy and procedure that illustrates the process for identifying those youth who are in need of a comprehensive assessment.

The JAC has executed written collaborative agreements with providers of comprehensive assessments.

The written policy and procedure provides specific time frames for the completion of the assessment and the written report.

8. Facilitating transportation services

Protocols are developed within inter-agency agreements for the delivery of transportation services.

Existing local resources are utilized whenever possible.

9. Information systems

JJIS is the client information system used for universal registration

There are signed interagency agreements on sharing of information.

Written procedures are developed for how to access information system

10. Local cooperation and planning

Each JAC will have a formal advisory board

Circuits:

Printtrak Motorola just called and is preparing to deliver your new LiveScan positive identification equipment to your juvenile assessment centers (Thanks to Jack's Byrne Grant application). Could you please:

1. Confirm the address below is the place the JAC would like the equipment delivered to.
2. Provide a contact person and telephone number for the delivery site, so that PrintTrak Motorola can arrange delivery.

Thanks a bunch!

Lee Ann
