Why are you interested in serving on a board or commission?

Being a citizen of Gainesville for 22 years has given me valuable insight into its evolution, progress, and history. Understanding history is a vital prerequisite in planning for the future. It would be an honor to serve in this capacity and become more familiar with the guiding document that is the City of Gainesville Charter.

Interests & Experiences

Why are you interested in serving on a board or commission?

I have a diverse personal, professional and academic background and a strong interest in good government. I was born on a small dairy farm in Wisconsin, majored in History at Lawrence University in Appleton, Wisconsin, and then worked as a computer program and systems analyst for the First Wisconsin National Bank (now called US Bank) in Milwaukee. During this time, I worked on an MBA in the evening. Once I completed my MBA, I became involved as a citizen activist in environmental issues including recreational trail development and waterfront development in Milwaukee. Eventually, I decided to switch careers to Urban Planning. I began by getting a master's in City Planning at UC Berkeley. Then I went to work for the Public Service Board in Vermont as a policy analyst. After 2 years, I returned to Berkeley to pursue a Ph.D. in City Planning. Before I completed my Ph.D., I moved to Gainesville to work as a professor in Urban and Regional Planning, where I have moved up the ranks from Provisional Assistant Professor to Professor. I have worked on lots of committees in Gainesville and Alachua County, including the Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC) to the Gainesville Urbanized Area Metropolitan Planning Organization (MTPO), the Alachua County Energy Conservation Strategies Committee, the School Planning Advisory Committee (SPAC) and the City of Gainesville Development Review Board (DRB). In summary, I would bring a diverse perspective on many issues of concern to the city (urban planning, utility regulation, transportation) and an understanding of the functioning of government in diverse locations (Wisconsin, California, Washington, Vermont and Florida). (I want to let you know that I am submitting an abbreviated biosketch for my resume. A full CV 56 pages is available upon request.)

d. Synergistic Activities (Past and Present)

For the past thirty years, Dr. Steiner's research, graduate education, and training activities have focused on the interactions between land use and transportation with a particular focus on alternative modes of transportation – walking and bicycling – and the impact on communities, health and the environment. Her current research focuses on the impact of school siting, school transportation and land development patterns on children's travel, the impact of the sharing economy (e.g., Uber and Lyft) on transit availability, transportation and aging, and the health and community impacts of redevelopment of old industrial sites in cities. Recently she has completed work on the integration of roundabouts into access management systems, the incorporation of multimodal performance measures into land development planning, regional cooperation in transportation planning, and planning for parking in central cities. She is currently a recipient of the University of Florida Research Foundation Professorship (2017-2019), she has been the principal or co-principal investigator on over $13 million dollars in research funded by the Federal Highway Administration, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, the US Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Florida Department of Transportation and the Florida Department of Health.

Why are you interested in serving on a board or commission?

I've served on the city of Gainesville Human Rights Board for two terms being chair for the last few years and wish to continue serving the City in some capacity. I'm highly invested in the future of the City. Furthermore, I am knowledgeable on issues affecting working families and look forward to adding this perspective.

Interests & ExperiencesWhy are you interested in serving on a board or commission?

I have studied state and local government most of my life. I understand the way in which charters determine what a city may and may not do, and I am interested in the review process and in equipping the city of Gainesville for the challenges it might face in the next ten years. I think serving on this commission for the first time is a unique opportunity to participate in the life of the community.

Since I retired, I no longer keep a formal resume; however, I think this short narrative will explain both my qualifications for the Charter Review Commission and why I would like to serve on it.

I came to Gainesville in 1980 to pursue a doctorate in political science. I fell in love with the city and never left. I was fortunate to obtain a full time position at Santa Fe College, and I taught U.S. history, state and local and American government, and a number of special courses in the Honors program from 1985 to my retirement at the end of December 2011. During that time for both professional and personal reasons, I was a close observer of and participant in the civic life of Gainesville. Teaching state and local government has given me a solid knowledge of different types of local governmental structures and the pros and cons of each. If I have a bias, it is in favor of democracy and home rule.

After my retirement, I have continued to teach part-time at SFC. I have also taught classes and given lectures on American history and politics at The Village and Oak Hammock and for various civic organizations. I also became an active member of the League of Women Voters. I formed a Speakers Bureau for the local chapter and spend a good deal of time every fall educating people on ballot issues, both state and local. This year I did 17 talks on the state constitutional amendments in September and October alone. I serve on the League Board and help Voter Services whenever I can. I also help with this chapter's internship program.

In 2017 with the support of the League and the Community Coalition for Older Adults, I taught a civics class at the Senior Center which lasted 18 months and was very well attended. We brought in all sorts of city and county government employees to familiarize everyone with the operations of local government. We all learned a lot. We plan to resume the series in September. I hope I will be able to do a session on the Charter Review Commission and its work, whether I am appointed or not. I think it is a good thing for the city to revisit the charter every ten years with an eye toward equipping city government for the future.

Interests & Experiences

Why are you interested in serving on a board or commission?

I believe in "citizen centered, people empowered". Several folks approached me about applying for this commission. I am confused about the reason/purpose for this commission? I'm an African American woman community organizer, so when folks approach me and encourage me, I listen, I learn and eventually apply. We need more African Americans on city boards and commissions. Anyhow, love my hometown city...Peace. Love. Justice.
