Command Central Software. The public information is available via a hyperlink on our website to the CrimeReports.com website. The information that is already provided to CrimeReports will be used by the company to provide internal data to our agency. There are other software companies, but none of those companies provide the same data in the detailed customizable format needed for us to fight crime in Gainesville. In addition, since they already have some of our data and we have taken considerable staff-time to map the data, we would save valuable staff time and money to continue to use the same company. CrimeReports is the only company that makes the Command Central Software, the TipSoft Software and Tipsoft Alerts and you can only subscribe to the service from this company.
