Experience/Training Information

Related to Board/Committee:

The training and experience that I have received that equips me to serve on the Student Community Relations Board and the Gainesville Human Rights Board revolves around my many exposure to various roles in leadership.

Last summer I had to opportunity to intern with my local Congressman's, Thomas Rooney, office. I learned invaluable skills of how to handle situation with concerned constituents and ones who just wanted to voice their disdain for a particular bill or resolution the current administration was debating. I believe these skills will help me serve on the Student Community Relations Board (SCRB) and the Gainesville Human Rights Board (GHRB), because in doing so, I have developed my communication and listening skills; a trait that will prove most imperative for both boards.

In addition, as a student at UF, sometimes I feel very disconnected for the city of Gainesville and tend to forget that actual people live here full time in homes and work here as well. As a student, it is easy to have tunnel vision and see Gainesville only as UF; but there is much more to this city than this university. As a staff member of the Community Political Affairs Cabinet in my Student Government, I have made it my goal to get myself and my fellow gators more involved with our local government officials, a mission I plan to continue on the SCRAB.

Recently, I have volunteered with the Saint Francis House. Volunteering there has opened my eyes to a whole other world of the lives of residents of Gainesville who are homeless.

This is my foremost reason for wanting to get involved with the GHRB; I want to be able to implement change and help protect the rights (and learn how to in all actuality) in the legal sense.

The above mentioned training is why I believe that I am equipped with the experience to serve or the for mentioned boards.

Educational Background:

High school honors graduate, and currently attending the University of Florida

Professional Organizations:

As related to organizations that I am involved with in school: Women's Leadership Council, Student Government Community Affairs Political Cabinet staff member, Gator Teens Mentors (work with "at risk" students at East Side High School), and the Program Director for Campus Advent (Christian organization).
