Comments and input received at each event were incorporated into the plans for the park. The Wild Spaces & Public Places (WSPP) Program and the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs (PRCA) Department held two open houses, focus group meetings, an online survey and a neighborhood workshop to gather public input and to discuss the proposed redevelopment of Kiwanis Girl Scout (soon to be renamed Oakview) Park. Based on that engagement a Master plan was created for Oakview Park as part of the conceptual planning process.
