TO: Historic Preservation Board

Item Number: 2

FROM:

Department of Doing, Planning Staff

DATE: April 3, 2018

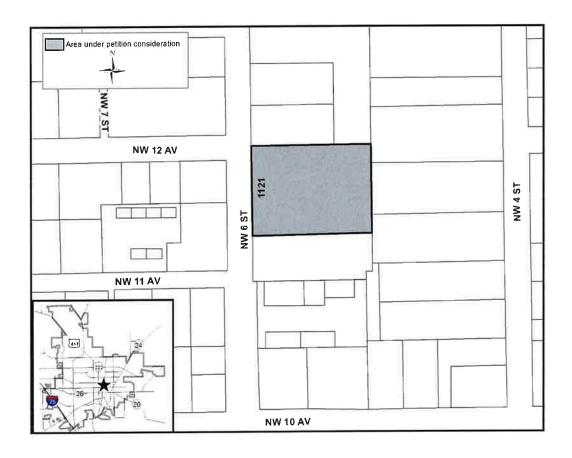

SUBJECT:

Petition HP-16-51. Kehua Hu, owner. Renewal of a previously approved petition to re-roof the Bailey House with a metal roof. Located at 1121 NW 6th Street. This building is individually listed on the Local and National Register of Historic Places.

Recommendation

Staff recommends approval of the application with the condition that the roof be a standing seam metal roof and that the finish be a light to medium light gray color.

Conditions of Approval

The Historic Preservation Board voted to approve the petition, 7-0, at the July 5, 2016 HPB meeting, with the condition that the roof shall be a standing seam metal roof in a light to medium light gray color.

Project Description

The property is located at 1121 NW 6th Street. The Bailey House is a contributing structure that is one of the oldest houses in Gainesville, with construction beginning in 1848, according to the Florida Master Site File for the property. The building was built in 1854, according to the Alachua County Property Appraisers Office, and is individually listed on the Local and National Register of Historic Places. The property is zoned PD, Planned Development.

The applicant is proposing to replace the existing 25-30 year old shingle roof with a standing seam or other sheet metal roofing system. The proposed metal roof is the same type as the metal roofs on three other buildings on the property. The original proposed color for the metal roof was "Light Stone," which would match the color of the metal roofs on the three other buildings as well.

Roofs are a highly visible component of historic buildings and are an integral part of a building's overall design and architectural style. The Historic Preservation Board discussed and adopted a policy on April 2, 2013 concerning styles of metal roofing which would be allowed within the historic districts. The Historic Preservation Board approves metal roofing on a case-by-case basis depending on the style and use of the building.

The Bailey House is not located within a historic district. According to the Florida Master Site File for the property, the house is typical of frontier plantation houses in the mid-nineteenth century. It is wood frame construction with horizontal wood siding, one and a half stories tall with a double pitch roof and gabled ends. At the time the nomination form for the National Register was completed (May 1958), the roofing was sheet metal. The survey form noted that alterations on the house included the replacement of the shingle roof with tin.

Basis for Approval - Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation

Consideration of a Certificate of Appropriateness application is pursuant to Section 30-112 of the Land Development Code and the Secretary of Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation which serves as the basis for the City of Gainesville's Historic Preservation Rehabilitation and Design Guidelines. The Historic Preservation Board shall adhere to the preservation principles of maintaining historic fabric and compatibility with surrounding properties.

The Historic Preservation Rehabilitation and Design Guidelines, based on the Secretary of Interior Standards for Rehabilitation, which has become the authoritative guidelines for rehabilitation, list the following:

Applicable Secretary Standards

- 2. The historic character of a property shall be retained and preserved. The removal of historic materials or alteration of features and spaces that characterize a property shall be avoided.
- 4. Most properties change over time; those changes that have acquired historic significance in their own right shall be retained and preserved.
- 5. Distinctive features, finishes and construction techniques or examples of craftsmanship that characterize a historic property shall be preserved.
- 6. Deteriorated historic features shall be repaired rather than replaced. Where the severity of deterioration requires replacement of a distinctive feature, the new feature shall match the old in design, color, texture and other visual qualities and, where possible, materials. Replacement of missing features shall be substantiated by documentary, physical or pictorial evidence.
- 9. New additions, exterior alterations or related new construction shall not destroy historic materials that characterize the property. The new work shall be differentiated from the old and shall be compatible with the massing, size, scale and architectural features to protect the historic integrity of the property and its environment.

The roof shape of the building, structure or object shall be visually compatible with the buildings to which it is visually related. It is important to identify, retain and preserve roofs and their functional and decorative features that are important in defining the overall historic character of the building. This includes the roof's shape as hipped, gambrel or mansard; decorative features such as cupolas, cresting and chimneys; and roofing materials such as slate, clay and tile.

Roofs are highly visibly components of historic buildings in Gainesville's Historic Districts. They are an integral part of a building's overall design and often help define its architectural style. Examples include mansard and belvederes, which are primary features of the Second Empire and the Airplane Bungalow styles, respectively. Materials such as clay tile and ornamental metals, which cover roofs in Gainesville are also significant and should be preserved in the course of rehabilitating a building.

Roof forms comprise an important part of streetscapes in the historic district and create a unified rhythm with neighboring buildings. The most numerous residential roof types are gable, hip, or a combination. Other common examples are pyramidal, gambrel, and clipped gable (jerkinhead). Flat roofs with parapets predominate in commercial buildings in the Pleasant Street District.

In planning roof repairs, it is important to identify significant features and materials and treat them with sensitivity under Standards 2 and 5. Under Standard 6, significant features and materials should be repaired rather than replaced. If replacement of a deteriorated feature is necessary, the new materials should closely match the original.

Roofs perform an essential function in keeping a building weather tight. As a result, they are particularly subject to change. In the local district the most common original roofing materials were embossed or crimped sheet metal and sawn wood shingles. Virtually all-original wood shingle coverings have been removed and often replaced with ornamental sheet metal. Such historic changes to roofs have gained significance in their own right and should be respected under Standard 4.

Where existing roofing material is non-original and not significant, there is greater flexibility. The existing roof may be retained, or replaced in a manner known to be accurate based on documentation or physical evidence, or treated in a contemporary style in compliance with Standards 6 and 9. In reviewing replacement of non-historic roof surfacing, it is important to keep in mind, Standard 9. Even if the existing surfacing is inappropriate, the replacement material must be compatible with the overall design of the building.

Rooftop additions are another common change to historic buildings. They are generally not suitable for smaller buildings of three stories or less or for buildings with very distinctive rooflines. They can, however, meet Standard 9 if certain conditions are met. The addition should be designed to be distinguished from the historic portion of the building; be set back from the wall plane; and be placed so it is inconspicuous when viewed from the street.

Recommended

- 1. Alterations to the configuration or shape of a historic roof should be confined to portions of the building not visible from the right-of-way.
- 2. Repointing of chimney mortar joints shall match the existing composition, joint size, and profile.
- 3. Retain and preserve the roof's shape, historic roofing materials and features.
- 4. Preserve the original roof form in the course of rehabilitation.
- 5. Provide adequate roof drainage and insure that the roofing material provides a weather tight covering for the structure.
- Replace deteriorated roof surfacing with matching materials or new materials, such as composition shingles or tabbed asphalt shingles, in dark shades that match the original in composition, size, shape, color, and texture.
- 7. Retain or replace where necessary dormer windows, cupolas, cornices, brackets, chimneys, cresting, weather vanes, and other distinctive architectural or stylistic features that give a roof its essential character.
- 8. Design rooftop additions, when required for a new use that are set back from a wall plane and are as inconspicuous as possible when viewed from the street.

Not Recommended

- 1. Removal of existing chimneys is discouraged. Removal of historic or architectural roofing features should be avoided, if possible. If removal is unavoidable, replacement material should match the existing fabric in composition, design, color, texture and other visual qualities.
- 2. Mortar with high Portland cement content shall not be used.
- 3. Masonry surfaces shall not be sandblasted.
- 4. Avoid applying paint or other coatings to roofing materials, which historically have not been painted.

Respectfully submitted,

Andrew Persons

OVERVIEW

The Historic Preservation Board (HPB) is an advisory board to the City of Gainesville's Commission composed of citizens who voluntarily, without compensation commit their time and expertise to the stewardship of historic resources in our community.

The HPB approval is a procedure which occurs for alterations, construction, restorations, or other significant changes to the appearance of an structure in Gainesville's Historic Districts which have an impact on the significant historical, architectural, or cultural materials of the structure and/or the district. The City's historic review guidelines are available online at www.cityofgainesville.org/planningdepartment and within the Land Development Code, Section 30-112.

After submission of an application, the Historic Preservation Planner prepares a written recommendation for the board meeting which addresses whether the proposed changes are compatible with the criteria of the SECRETARY OF INTERIOR'S STANDARDS FOR REHABILITATION and the City of Gainesville's HISTORIC PRESERVATION REHABILITATION AND DESIGN GUIDELINES. Once staff has prepared and completed the staff report, an Agenda of the proposed meeting and the staff report will be posted online approximately 5 to 7 days prior to the HPB meeting and can be found at www.cityofgainesville.org/planningdepartment — Citizen Advisory Boards — Historic Preservation Board.

Public notice signage is required to be posted at the property by the applicant no later than 10 day s prior to the scheduled Historic Preservation Board meeting. The notarized Public Notice Signage Affidavlt must be submitted once the sign is posted.

The applicant and/or owner of the property should be present at the Historic Preservation Board meeting and be prepared to address inquiries from the board members and/or the general public. The HPB meeting is a quasi-judicial public hearing with procedural requirements. The review body may approve, approve with conditions, or deny projects. It is not necessary for owners to be present at the HPB meeting if your COA has been staff approved.

In addition to a Certificate of Appropriateness (COA), a building permit may be required for construction from the Building Department. This is a separate process with submittal requirements. Building permits will not be issued without proof of a COA and the Historic Preservation Planner signing the building permit. After the application approval, the COA is valid for one year.

Please post the CERTIFICATE OF APPROPRIATENESS at or near the front of the building.

TAX SAVINGS FOR HOMEOWNERS OF HISTORIC PROPERTIES

The improvements to your historic property may qualify for a property tax exemption. The City of Gainesville permits an Ad Valorem property tax exemption for renovations, rehabilitations, and restorations to contributing properties within Historic Districts.

The amount of the exemption shall be determined by the Alachua County Property Appraiser based upon its usual process for post-construction inspection and appraisal of property following rehabilitation or renovation. The duration of the exemption shall continue regardless of any change in the authority of the City to grant such exemptions or any change in ownership of the property. In order to retain an exemption, however, the historic character of the property, and improvements which qualified the property for an exemption, must be maintained over the period for which the exemption was granted.

This is an excerpt from the Code of Ordinances ARTICLE IV. TAX EXEMPTION FOR HISTORIC PROPERTIES Sec. 25-61-66

An Overview of the Application Process:

An applicant (owner of record or authorized agent) seeking an ad valorem tax exemption for historic properties must file with the city manager or designee the two-part Historic Preservation Property Tax Exemption Application with "Part 1: Preconstruction Application" (Part 1) completed, in addition, the applicant shall submit the following:

- A completed application for a Certificate of Appropriateness for the qualifying restoration, renovation, or rehabilitation.
- An application fee of not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) to be determined by the city manager or designee based on the estimated cost of the work to be performed and the administrative costs to be incurred by the city in processing the application and monitoring compliance.

The City of Gainesville Historic Preservation Board (HPB) shall review Part 1 applications for exemptions. The HPB shall determine whether the property is an eligible property and whether the Part 1 proposed improvement is consistent with the Secretary of Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation and Guidelines for Rehabilitating Historic Buildings and is therefore an eligible improvement.

Upon completion of work specified in the "Part 1" application, the applicant shall submit a "Part 2: Final Application for Review of Completed Work" (Part 2). The HPB shall conduct an inspection of the subject property to determine whether or not the completed improvements are in compliance with the work described and conditions imposed in the approved Part 1 application. Appropriate documentation may include paid contractor's bills and canceled checks, as well as an inspection request by the applicant within two (2) years following approval of the Part 1 application.

On completion of review of the Part 2 application, the HPB shall recommend that the city commission grant or deny the exemption. The recommendation and reasons therefore, shall be provided in writing to the applicant and to the city commission.

A majority vote of the city commission shall be required to approve a Part 2 application and authorize the ad valorem tax exemption. If the exemption is granted, the city commission shall adopt an ordinance.

The property owner shall have the historic preservation exemption covenant recorded in the official records of Alachua County, and shall provide a certified copy of the recorded historic preservation exemption covenant to the city manager or designee.

The effective date of the ad valorem tax exemption shall be January 1 of the year following the year in which the application is approved by the city commission and a historic preservation exemption covenant has been transmitted to the Alachua County Appraiser. Please submit Part 2 applications by the October Historic Preservation Board deadline in order to ensure enough time for it to go before the City Commission and be processed by the Tax Appraiser's office.

To qualify for an exemption, the property owner must enter into a covenant with the City of Gainesville for the term for which the exemption is granted. The covenant shall be binding on the current property owner, transferees, and their heirs, successors, or assigns.

Violation of the covenant or agreement will result in the property owner being subject to the payment of the differences between the total amount of taxes which would have been due in March in each of the previous years in which the covenant or agreement was in effect had the property not received the exemption and the total amount of taxes actually paid in those years, plus interest on the difference calculated as provided in F.S. § 212.12(3), as amended.

Please review City of Gainesville's Code of Ordinances Section 25-61 for qualification and process information.

This information is available online at www.municode.com for the City of Gainesville, FL Chapter 25 Section 25-61—25-65.

The Bailey House reflects characteristics typical of frontier plantation houses in the mid-nineteenth century. The house is of wood frame construction with some hand-hewn beams with mortised and pinioned joints. The building is one and a half stories high and symmetrically laid out. The foundation is dressed native coquina stone and the two chimneys are coquina and brick. There is a porch on the front of the house, the railing of which appears to be the original. The doorways have simplified Greek Revival details. Windows are nine light double hung sash with wooden louvered shutters. The roof has a double pitch and gabled ends: roofing is of sheet metal. There are three gabled dormers facing south. Alterations on the house include the replacement of the shingle roof with tin. Bathroom and kitchen facilities and a ramp at the front have been added and outbuildings and exterior stairs have been removed. The entire structure is painted white and the fabric is in excellent condition.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Major James B. Bailey was one of the pioneer settlers of Gainesville. Having acquired extensive acreage within the original boundaries of northwest Gainesville, Major Bailey began construction of his home about 1848, thereby making the house one of the oldest in Gainesville.

Public records indicate that Major Bailey was a very prominent citizen of early Gainesville. He was County Treasurer of Alachua County for six years, was a member of the Patrol Committee and was the man appointed by the County Commissioners to decide on a site for the new jail and then to design the building. It also seems likely that Major Bailey was instrumental in having the county seat moved from Newnansville to Gainesville. In 1852, the legislature passed an act calling for a county-wide vote for the selection of a new seat of government. One source states that "Major Bailey desired the removal of the county seat from Newnansville for he owned a large part of the land on which the new town and the courthouse would be built". In 1854 Major Bailey did sell 63% acres of land to the Alachua County Commissioners to be used in part for a public square and for the erection of a courthouse. The present courthouse still stands on that site.

In March of 1862, at a special meeting of the citizens of Alachua County, a motion by the Honorable David L. Yulee was adopted which sent Major J.B. Bailey as a special messenger to Richmond, Virginia to impress upon the Government of the Confederate States the importance of keeping an army in East Florida. At the same time, Bailey was to confer with General Lee and urge him to leave the troops already in East Florida there. Major Bailey died in 1864 while working on fortifications at Baldwin, Florida. In a letter dated March 22, 1864, a friend of Bailey's wrote to General Jernigan that "our worthy townsman Major

James B. Bailey is dead".

The Bailey homestead remains today as an excellent example of early plantation architecture and the home of one of Gainesville's most important pioneers.

TALLAHASSEE -- Efforts to recognize and preserve Florida's historic sites took another major step with addition of the Rest Haven, or Baily House, in Gainesville to the National Register of Historic Places, says Secretary of State Richard (Dick) Stone.

Stone, by law the state's chief archives and history official, received notification of the addition to the National Register from Washmington.

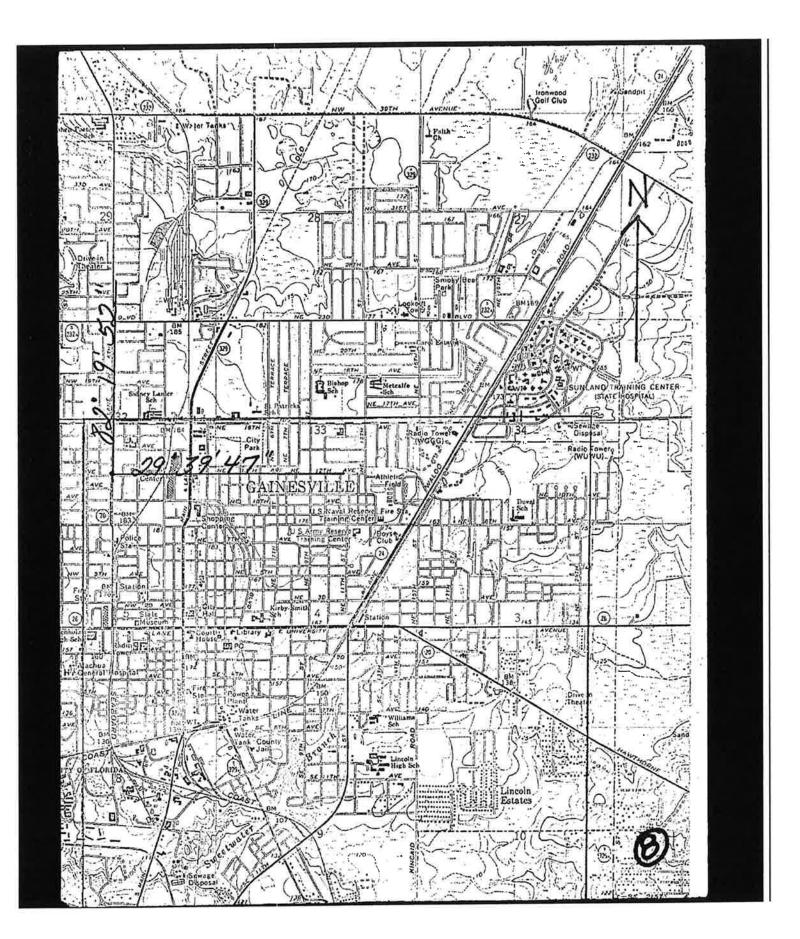

Historic sites specialists under Stone do the xx research work for  sites nominated for the prestigious National Register of H istoric Places.

"This is indeed good news for our efforts to preserve sites of historic value," said Secretary Stone.

The National Register of Historic Sites is considered an inventory of historic sites worthy of preservation. Sites selected are afforded a degree of protection and are eligible for federal grants.

The Bailey House reflects charactristics typical of frontier plantation houses in the mid-nineteenth century, The house is of wood frame construction with some hand-hewn beams with mortised and pinioned joints. The building is one and a half stories high and symmetrically Laid out. The foundation is dressed native coquina stone and the two chimneys are coquina and brick. There is a porch on the front of the house, the railing of which appears to be the original. The doorways have simplified Greek Revival details. Windows are nine light double hung sash with wooden louvered shutters. The roof has a double pitch and gabled ends: roofing is of sheet metal. There are three gabled dormers facing south. Alterations on the house include the replacement of the shingle roof with tin. Bathroom and kitchen facilities and a ramp at the front have been added and outbuildings and exterior stairs have been removed. The entire structure is painted white and the fabric is in excellent condition,

Major James B. Bailey was one of the pioneer settlers of Gainesville. Having acquired extensive acreage within the original boundaries of northwest Gainesville, Major Bailey began construction of his home about 1848, thereby making the house one of the oldest in Gainesville.

Public records indicate that Major Bailey was a very prominent citizen of early Gainesville. He was County Treasurer of Alachua County for six years, was a member of the Patrol Committee and was the man appointed by the County Commissioners to decide on a site for the new jail and then to design the building. It also seems likely that Major Bailey was instrumental in having the county seat moved from Newnansville to Gainesville. In 1852, the legislature passed an act calling for a county-wide vote for the selection of a new seat of government. One source states that "Major Bailey desired the removal of the county seat from Newnansville for he owned a large part of the land on which the new town and the courthouse would be built". In 1854 Major Bailey did sell 63% acres of land to the Alachua County Commissioners to be used in part for a public square and for the erection of a courthouse. The present courthouse still stands on that site.

In March of 1862, at a special meeting of the citizens of Alachua County, a motion by the Honorable David L. Yulee was adopted which sent Major J.B. Bailey as a special messenger to Richmond, Virginia to impress upon the Government of the Confederate States the importance of keeping an army in East Florida. At the same time, Bailey was to confer with General Lee and urge him to leave the troops already in East Florida there. Major Bailey died in 1864 while working on fortifications at Baldwin, Florida. In a letter dated March 22, 1864, a friend of Bailey's wrote to General Jernigan that "our worthy townsman Major James B. Bailey is dead".

James B. Bailey is dead".

The Bailey homestead remains today as an excellent example of early plantation architecture and the home of one of Gainesville's most important pioneers.

Present & Original Physical Appearance (use continuation sheet if necessary)

The Bailey House reflects characteristics typical of . frontier plantation houses in the mid-nineteenth century. The house is of wood frame construction with some hand-hewn beams with mortised and pinoined joints. The building is one and a half stories high and symmetrically laid out. foundation is dressed native coquina stone and the two chimneys are coquina and birck. There is a porch on the front of the house, the railing of which appears to be the original. The doorways have simplified Greek Revival details. Windows are nine light double hung sash with wooden louvered shutters. The roof has a double pitch and gabled ends: roofing is of sheet metal. There are three gabled dormers facing south. Alterations on the house include the replacement of the shingle roof with tin. Bathroom and kitchen facilities and a ramp-at the front have been added and outbuildings and exterior stairs have been removed. The entire structure is painted white and the fabric is in excellent condition.

Major James B. Bailey was one of the pioneer settlers of Gainesville. Having acquired extensive acreage within the original boundaries of northwest Gainesville, Major Bailey began construction of his home about 1848, thereby making the house one of the oldest in Gainesville.

Public records indicate@that Major Bailey was a very prominent citizen of early Gainesville. He was County Treasurer of Alachua County for@six wears, was a member of the Patrol Committee and was the man appointed by the County Commissioners to decide on a site for the new jail and then to design the building. It also seems likely that Major Bailey was instrumental in having the county seat moved from Newnansville to Gainesville. In 1852, the legislature passed an act calling for a county-wide vote for the selection of a new seat of government. One source states that "Major Bailey desired@the removal of the county seat from Newnansville for he owned a large part of the land on (Con't) 911== which the new town and the courthouse would be built". In 1854 Major Bailey did sell 634 acres of land to the Alachua County Commissioners to be used in part for a public square and for the erection of a courthouse. The present courthouse still stands on that site.

In March of 1862, at a special meeting of the citizens of Alachua County, a motion by the Honorable David L. Yulee was adopted which sent Major J. B. Bailey as a special messenger to Richmond, Virginia to impress upon the Government of the Confederate States the importance of keeping an army in East Florida. At the same time, Bailey was to confer with General Lee and urge him to leave the troops already in East Florida there. Major Bailey died in 1864 while working on fortifications at Baldwin, Florida. In a letter dated March 22, 1864, a friend of Bailey's wrote to General Jernigan that "our worthy townsman Major James B. Bailey is dead".

The Bailey homestead remains today as an excellent example of early plantation architecture and the home of one of Gainesville's most important pioneers.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

Physical History

- 1. Original and subsequent owners: Major James B. Bailey, Mary N. Bailey (widow) died 1891, Mary E. and Margaret R. Bailey, Margaret Campbell, James Bailey Campbell, Mrs. E. Meanes, J. Pierce Smith.
- 2. Date of erection: c. 1850
- Builder: Unknown; probably done by plantation labor.
- Construction: Wood frame. Some hand-hewn beams, with mortised and pinioned joints.
- 5. Notes on alterations and additions: Tin roof replaced shingle roof. Screens were made from shutter frames. Bathrooms and kitchen facilities added. Exterior stairs were removed or replaced. Central heating was added. One fireplace was remodelled and the others closed off. Outbuilding, which reputedly housed the kitchen and dining facilities has been removed. In 1960-1961 the house was divided for apartments and considerably altered; ramp added at the front.
- B. Historical Events Connected with the Structure: The Major James B. Bailey house served as social center in Inte-Bellum Gainesville and is typical of frontier plantation houses of that era.
- Likely Sources Not Yet Investigated: Mrs. C. A. Meanes at Hague, Florida may have some additional information which she has yet to supply. She says that most of the Bailey papers have been placed in the Florida State Museum in Gainesville. According to the curator of the museum, most of these papers have been mislaid; those on file have no reference to the Major James B. Bailey House.

PART II. ARCHITECTURAL INFORMATION

- A. General Statement
 - 1. Architectural character: Typical frontier plantation home.
 - 2. Condition of fabric: Good.
- B. Technical Description of Exterior
 - Overell dimensions: One-and-a-half stories, symmetrical layout, 2,594 square feet.
 - Foundations: Dressed native coquina stone quarried near St. Augustine.

 - 4. Chimneys: Two; coquina stone and brick.
 - 5. Openings:
 - a. Doorways and doors: Simplified Greek Revival details.
 - b. Windows and shutters: Double hung windows, nine lights. Wood louvered shutters (remodelled into screens); some original hardware.

6. Roof:

- a. Shape, covering: Gabled end, double pitch; sheet metal roofing.
- Cornice, eaves: Cornice is simplified classical;
 eaves boxed.
- c. Dormers, cupolas: Same.
- C. Technical Description of Interior
 - 1. Floor plans: First floor--four large rooms, each with its own exterior entrance. Stair hall, one long porch on south, rear stoop. Second floor--two rooms, stair hall which is divided for recent bethroom addition.
 - 2. Stairways: Wood; semi-curved. Well detailed for home of this type.

MAJOR JAMES B. BAILEY HOUSE HABS No. FLA-121 (Page 3)

- 3. Flooring: Wood--4" 6" pine boards.
- 4. Wall and ceiling finish: Plaster.
- 5. Doorways and doors: Wood, of little interest.
- 6. Trim: Wood--modified Greek Revival; of little interest. Porch railing appears to be the original.
- 7. Hardware: Mon-existing, except on shutters.
- 8. Lighting: None of interest.
- 9. Heating: Four fireplaces, one of which has been remodelled, the others closed. Central heating is now installed.

D. Site

- 1. General setting and orientation: Large lot; north-south.
- 2. Enclosures: Woven wire fence.
- 3. Outbuildings: Recent garage and playhouse. All evidence of old outbuilding removed.
- 4. Landscaping: Large lot covered with magnolias, oaks, azaleas; well cared for.
