

NOTICE OF REGISTRATION

City of Gainesville Registry of Protected Public Places Ordinance #080567

Phase II-B Property Listing

The purpose of this document is to provide registration notification to the citizens of Gainesville. City of Gainesville Ordinance #080567, which pertains to the protection of City-owned lands acquired or used for conservation, recreation, or cultural purposes, states that a registry will be created for the purpose of identifying fee-simple properties owned by the City of Gainesville that are deemed to be worthy of the highest level of protection. When listed on the registry, said properties may not be sold or converted to a use that will result in a loss of value for which the property was placed on the registry, except by a majority vote of the electors in a city-wide election. Staff evaluated city-owned properties and deemed the following conservation and/or recreation lands to be worthy of this level of protection. A location map and acquisition plans for the properties can be found in the Appendix A and B, respectively.

Name: Loblolly Woods Nature Park
 Location: 3315 NW 5th Avenue
 Acreage: 154 acres
 Parcel Number(s): 06435-000-000, 06436-003-001, 06467-000-000, 06471-001-004*
 City LU/ZON: CON/CON and ROW/ROAD*
 Management Plan: Greenway Master Plan and Individual
 Description: Located in northwest Gainesville in the central Hogtown Creek basin, this park features upland mixed forest, numerous wetlands and the convergence of Hogtown Creek, Possum Creek and Elizabeth Creek. This park is proposed for registry listing because it was partially acquired through donations and with state grant funding that limits the use of the property to conservation, outdoor recreation, and other related activities. This park also contains the major developed portions of the Hogtown Creek Greenway, is critical to the City for flood control and contains exemplary examples of aforementioned habitats.
 Legal Description: See Appendix C

Location Map of Phase II-B Property Listing

APPENDIX B

Acquisition Plans for Phase II-B Property Listing

Acquisition Plan

NW 34th Street Property

Introduction

The NW 34th Street property is an approximately 12-acre parcel located in the vicinity of 2200 NW 34th St. in Gainesville. It was acquired through a donation to the City in 1982.

Significant features

Possum Creek passes through the property, which consists almost entirely of floodplain natural communities associated with the creek. The natural vegetation of this floodplain area buffers the Possum/Hogtown Creek system and serves a role in removing nutrients and pollutants from the creek. It is not known whether listed or rare plants or animals are present on the property.

Acquisition Purpose

The circumstances surrounding the acquisition are not well documented. It is presumed that flood control and protection of the creek were considerations in the donation of the property.

Allowable uses

Uses and activities that are consistent with the the property's intended use include:

- Environmental education programs
- Restoration of native upland and wetland natural communities
- Hydrological modifications intended to restore or enhance the ecological function of the creek and associated plant communities
- Natural resource management, including but not limited to removal/treatment of invasive non-native plants and animals
- Development of nature trails and/or boardwalks and parking or access areas as needed to allow public access to any such amenities
- Subject to approval by the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Department, utilities as needed for park or other city-owned property development or to serve another utilities customer outside the park or the city-owned property

Colclough Pond Nature Park

Introduction

Colclough Pond Nature Park is a 4.87-acre park located at 2315 South Main Street in Gainesville, Florida. It was acquired by the City on October 29, 1990.

Acquisition Purpose

The property was acquired to be used as a passive recreation and conservation area. The primary land management objective for Colclough Pond Nature Park is protection, maintenance, and restoration of its natural communities and ecological processes.

Significant Features

Colclough Pond Nature Park protects a portion of the shoreline of Colclough Pond, one of a small number of natural lakes within the City of Gainesville (COG). The park is one of only a handful of publically accessible bank fishing locations in the area and one of only two in COG parks. The park is contiguous with Colclough Pond Sanctuary, 37 acres of conservation land owned by Audubon of Florida.

Allowable Uses

Uses and activities consistent with the City's purpose for acquiring this property include:

- Public non-motorized resource-based outdoor recreation, to the extent that the property's natural resources are not adversely affected
- Environmental education programs
- Restoration of natural resources, including enhancement planting of native upland plant species
- Natural resource management, including but not limited to removal/treatment of invasive non-native plants and animals
- Maintenance, renovation, or other improvements to existing trails and facilities
- Construction of additional nature trails, fencing, boardwalks, and overlooks.
- Development of facilities necessary to provide the public reasonable access to learn about and enjoy the natural features of the site.
- Subject to approval by the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Department, utilities as needed for park or other city-owned property development or to serve another utilities customer outside the park or the city-owned property.

Acquisition Plan

Loblolly Woods Nature Park

Introduction

Loblolly Woods is approximately 154 acres located along both sides of NW 8th Avenue in the center of Gainesville. The park contains the convergence of two of Gainesville's main creeks and the major developed portions of the Hogtown Creek Greenway. The City of Gainesville (COG) acquired Loblolly Woods through a series of land acquisitions from 1980 to 2003. Approximately 85 acres were acquired through donations or Florida Communities Trust grants. The City seeks to place this land on the Registry of Protected Public Lands to protect the property's environmental values and nature-based recreational and educational opportunities. An approximately 6-acre undeveloped in-holding on the north side of 8th Avenue is used by the public but is owned by Alachua Conservation Trust; this parcel is therefore not proposed for listing on the Registry.

Acquisition Purpose

Portions of Loblolly Woods were originally purchased by or donated to COG as flood control areas. Additional acreages were acquired as part of the Hogtown Creek Greenway project, in order to provide passive recreation and protect natural resources. Portions of the park were donated to the City with the requirement that the land be preserved in a natural state. Loblolly Woods is managed for passive outdoor recreation and for the protection and restoration of natural resources.

Significant Features

Loblolly Woods contains two major seepage streams, Hogtown Creek and Possum Creek, as well as a smaller tributary called Elizabeth Creek, and wetland and upland forests associated with these streams. Several intermittent channels that fill with water during flood conditions function as isolated ponds during dry periods. In addition, there is a series of three ponds in the northwest corner of the property; one appears to be natural, while the others may have resulted from the excavation of fill for the construction of 8th Avenue. These ponds receive stormwater inputs, as well as floodwaters when the creek levels are elevated. Two open marsh areas are also found in the southeastern part of the property near NW 7th Road. Recreational facilities in the park include a picnic area, the Phase 1a and Phase 1b trails of the Hogtown Creek Greenway, including approximately 2000 feet of boardwalks, as well as the Mason Manor trail boardwalk and several other official and unofficial trails. Several listed plant species occur on the property, and the park provides habitat for a wide variety of wildlife. The property also contains a building known as the "Loblolly Environmental Education Center" which is currently used by the Gainesville Police Department and contains a public restroom and water fountain for park users.

Allowable Uses

Use of the entire property is guided by the Hogtown Creek Greenway Master Development and Management Plan Report. Uses in certain areas are also limited by conditions and requirements attached to the deeds of the properties at the time of acquisition, or by grant agreements related to the acquisition or development of specific parcels or amenities. Specific limitations are listed below:

A deed recorded in Book 2778, Page 1147 of the Official Records of Alachua County, Florida stipulates that: "The use of the real property described herein shall be limited to purposes which conserve and preserve the land predominantly in its natural, scenic, open, agricultural, or wooded condition. The construction or placing of buildings or other structures above ground is prohibited except the construction of an earthen berm, spillway, or other earthen structure as needed to raise the normal water level and restore the hydro period [sic] of the wetland. This restriction shall not preclude the creation or construction of walkways and trails."

Two deeds filed in the Official Records of Alachua County, Florida, Book 1800, page 0301 and in Book 1800, page 296 stipulate that: “the herein described property will be maintained in its natural state, except that walking/ bicycling paths, nature studies or similar activities will be permitted as long as such activities do not unreasonably alter the floodplain of Hogtown Creek.”

A deed filed in the Official Records of Alachua County, Florida, Book 1387, Page 865, grants a parcel of land to the City “[f]or so long as the City of Gainesville preserves [the] property in its natural state subject only to the construction of walkways for the purpose of nature observation.”

Restrictive covenants filed in OR book 1800 page 291 of the Official Records of Alachua County, Florida, make several stipulations regarding the use of the building on the property. These include that the building shall be used “for public purposes”; that the building shall not be used “primarily as an office building; however offices are permitted for staff members participating in environmental education or community affairs programs”; that the hours of operation of the building shall be consistent with the residential character of the surrounding neighborhood; and that in the event of sale or lease of the building, the lessee or grantee will continue to be bound by the restrictions.

City Commission Resolution 070986, filed in the Public Records of Alachua County, Book 3759, Page 1054, dedicates portions of the property “to the public in perpetuity as an outdoor recreation area for the use and benefit of the general public”, in order to satisfy state grant requirements resulting from the construction of Phase 1b of the Greenway.

The Grant Award Agreement (GAA) between the City and the Florida Communities Trust, recorded in Book 1997, Page 0322 of the Official Records of Alachua County, Florida, applies specifically to parcels described OR book 2020 page 1325 and OR book 1985 page 1083. The GAA states that the property “shall be managed only for the conservation, protection, and enhancement of natural and historical resources and for passive, natural resource-based public outdoor recreation which is compatible with the conservation, protection and enhancement of the Project Site, along with other related uses necessary for the accomplishment of this purpose.” The GAA further requires that buildings, structures, improvements, signs, tree removal other than non-native species, and major land alterations require prior written approval from FCT.

Except where limited by the restrictions above, the following uses and activities, when initiated and authorized by the City of Gainesville, may be consistent with the City’s goals in acquiring and managing this property:

- Public non-motorized resource-based outdoor recreation, to the extent that the property’s natural resources are not adversely affected
- Maintenance, renovation, or other improvements to existing trails, buildings, and facilities
- Construction of additional boardwalks, bridges, or trails, and associated accessory structures such as benches, signage, and trash receptacles
- Environmental education programs
- Installation or maintenance of fencing, signage, and gates as needed to maintain the integrity of the park boundary
- Management and preservation of natural communities, including but not limited to removal of non-native plants and animals
- Restoration of natural resources, including enhancement planting of native upland or wetland plant species
- Hydrological modifications intended to restore ecological function of the creeks and associated plant communities

- Changing the zoning and future land use designations of the undeveloped portions of the property, provided that such changes are made in order to be consistent with the intended use of the land for conservation and passive recreation.
- Changing the zoning and future land use designations of the portion of the property containing the building, provided that any new zoning and/or land use designation is consistent with the use of the building for public purposes in accordance with the deed restrictions
- Subject to approval by the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Department, utilities as needed for park or other city-owned property development or to serve another utilities customer outside the park or the city-owned property.

Acquisition Plan

Terwilliger Pond Conservation Area

Introduction

Terwilliger Pond Conservation Area is an approximately 24-acre conservation area within the Hogtown Creek Greenway in southwest Gainesville. The City of Gainesville acquired the property by donation from Alachua County in 1992. The City seeks to place the property on the Registry of Protected Public Lands to protect the natural resources and ecological functions for which the property was acquired.

Acquisition Purpose

The property was purchased with the goal of protecting the natural features and hydrological function of the site and to provide nature-based outdoor recreation.

Significant Features

This property is part of the Hogtown Creek Greenway, and contains upland and floodplain forests and a portion of Terwilliger Pond, a water body connected to the Hogtown Creek system. Depending on water levels, this property provides habitat for a number of wetland wildlife species, and a wading bird rookery formerly occurred on this site. Listed or rare plants may also be present, but extensive surveys have not been done. Protection of this property helps to prevent the spread of pollutants into the Floridan Aquifer and reduces the risk of flooding in areas surrounding lower Hogtown Creek. There is currently no public access to this property.

Allowable Uses

This property was purchased as part of the Hogtown Creek Greenway, and its management is guided by the Hogtown Creek Greenway Master Development Plan Report. However, it was not acquired using grant funds, and is therefore not governed by the Grant Award Agreement between the City of Gainesville and the Florida Communities Trust.

Activities and uses that are consistent with the purpose for acquiring this property and that are allowed or required under the Greenway management plan include:

- Public non-motorized resource-based outdoor recreation, to the extent that the property's natural resources are not adversely affected
- Development of nature trails and boardwalks
- Environmental education programs
- Restoration of disturbed wetlands to a natural condition in terms of biological composition and ecological function
- Restoration of disturbed uplands to a natural condition in terms of biological composition and function
- Management and preservation of natural communities, including but not limited to removal of non-native plants and animals
- Subject to approval by the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Department, utilities as needed for park or other city-owned property development or to serve another utilities customer outside the park or the city-owned property.
